

PS70: Introduction to Digital Fabrication

Applications now open for Spring '23

This introductory course covers a range of fabrication skills targeted to students of any skill level. Topics covered include CNC, microcontroller programming, 3D printing, hand tools, and electronics. Course meetings consist primarily of guided hands-on workshops with minimal lecture content, in addition to weekly lab sessions, informal ad hoc workshops, and self-guided learning in the Science Center Fabrication Lab.

<https://nathanmelenbrink.github.io/ps70/>

